Enhance your pet's care with physiotherapy

Physiotherapy is a proven method for aiding long-term recovery in animals after injury or surgery.

By employing best practice techniques, we develop a customised recovery plan for your pet, guiding them back to optimal health.

We work with you and your animal

Physiotherapy is an important treatment modality and can help with reducing pain and inflammation, increases strength and mobility, enhancing an animal's overall well-being.

Early physiotherapy intervention following injury and surgery has been proven to accelerate healing processes, leading to quicker recovery.

Physiotherapy can also help alleviate the anxiety and stress associated with injury, surgery, or living with a long-term health condition, contributing to a more positive recovery experience for you and your animal.

Customised rehabilitation programs promote joint flexibility, mobility, prevent muscle atrophy, and help restore the animal's functional abilities, allowing them to return to normal activities or prevent further deterioration of a condition.

We work with your animal's Specialist or Veterinarian providing a copy of your animal's Physiotherapy report, ensuring they are updated on your animal's progress.
